

Technical Support

Please check the FAQs pages for information on how to use your account. We're slowly working on expanding the content available in this section.

It's important to be familiar with your control panel, so if you're not sure where to log in to do what, please call us so we can run you through it. The control panel is the starting point for all of your services.

Commonly used system settings such as server names and IP addresses are outlined here .

Known issues are usually updated to the Service Status page (which is really just all news items posted under 'Network Issues').
